Nathan Cline, LCN President, shares an exciting new opportunity to get connected at LCN. Do you have the desire to make new disciples? Do you have the desire to help others make new disciples? We are developing a new Disciple-Making Pipeline Cohort and we want you to be a part of it. This will be a year-long journey for pastors to develop an intentional disciple-making process for their ministries.

Please submit your interest form here. Additional details will follow. We can't wait for you to join us!

Be, Go, and Do

Gary Moritz of City United Church and the LCN Local Center in Lunenburg, Massachusetts, encourages you to embrace the mission of making disciples. We have been called to bring the good news of the gospel to those who do not know God. What a privilege it is to help lead others to the Lord. Join with us at LCN to make new disciples who make disciples. Be, go, and do the work God has called you to do.
